PLASMA: Theater art from Switzerland

Ladies and Gentlemen, dear friends of SPIELART,

In the following newsletters until the begin of the festival we will present the highlights and program lines of the festival SPIELART 2007.

For the first time SPIELART presents the Swiss theatre company PLASMA with two projects in Munich:

DELIRIUM is a theatrical machine somewhere between digital dataflow and tangible melancholy, is inspired by the troupe's own experiences of the Finnish winter during their tour to Helsinki. People at a bar: The endless night shift perception, slowly dissolving the borders between the fantasized, the remembered and the experienced. We find ourselves in regions on the other side of consciousness, on the continent between last orders and looking up; that moment when, having had a glass or more, we sit quietly in the corner of the bar and watch the room bend, and wait for the taxi or the next drink.

THU Nov 15 and FRI Nov 16 at 8 pm, Gasteig, Carl-Orff-Saal

In TIP OF THE TONGUE the starting point is the manifest of renowned neuroscientists which appeared in 2004, and gives information about the state of future possibilities of brain research, PLASMA addresses the question of how our brain can be described using the resources of the brain. A tragic-comical attempt to describe the indescribable... PLASMA thereby transforms the stage space into a darkroom of the brain, and condenses a neural network of sounds, words, actions and images into a multimedia stage installation. The laboratory assistants become the test animals, get caught up in déjà-vus, stumble over memory gaps, are rattled by association cascades, force themselves to remember and yet forget what they are there for.
